WITHDRAWS FROM TRIAL

Says He Can't Stand Humiliation to Him and His Attorneys Any Longer, Tells Prosecutors to Proceed "As You See Best"

HOUSE MANAGERS CALL WITNESSES, CONTINUE TRIAL

Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 17.—J. C. Walton and his entire defense counsel, withdrew from his impeachment trial here today after the governor declared before the court that he could not have a fair trial and he could not "longer stand the humiliation to me and my attorneys."

Other witnesses were summoned and the house managers proceeded with the trial. This withdrawal came after an adverse ruling on a legal point. Walton took the floor and made a speech. He said "I've been sitting here for ten days fighting for my honor, my rights and for my home." He said he did not wish to criticize the members but he had decided he could not have a fair trial and "knowing that" had decided to withdraw. He added "you may proceed as you see best."

FARM CONDITIONS MUCH IMPROVED

Agricultural Situation, Particularly in South, Best Shape in "Three Years"

Considering prevailing prices, the Southern agricultural situation is in a better position than for some years, while the agricultural situation for the entire country is the best in the last three years. Such a situation will tend to strengthen trade throughout the whole structure of American business.

Purchasing power of farm products, though still at a disparity as compared with industrial products, is now at the highest point in three years, declares the Agricultural Department in its November agricultural review. Moreover, farm prices for agricultural products are higher at a season when farmers actually have something to sell, the review states.

"Spring wheat territory continues in distress and is still trying to find some remedy," it is stated. "Farmers in this territory are also discouraged at the low price of potatoes and incidental crops. There is considerable talk of diversification, and especially of increasing dairy stock."

Prices of crops as a group in September were slightly higher than in August, and 28 per cent higher than September a year ago. Prices of livestock products as a group made the largest gain of any one month since February, 1922. By specific products, advances were made in cotton, wheat, hogs, eggs, butter and lamb. Corn and potatoes registered declines.

The index of purchasing power of farm products as a group is placed at 75 as compared with 73 in August and with 64 in September a year ago. The run of hogs and sheep to market continued heavy, although many sheep were redistributed for feeds. Exports of wheat including flour during the first nine months of 1923 were 45,000,000 bushels less than during the corresponding period of 1922, whereas exports of lamb show an increase of 226,000,000 pounds and of bacon, hams and shoulders, 144,000,000 pounds. Many Hunters Licensed

That hunting is becoming a popular sport this season and that a large number of hunters at least are strictly obeying the state laws are evidenced by the fact that hunting licenses have been sold to fifty persons at the city hall recently. R. M. Knapps, deputy clerk issues the licenses.

Zev and In Memoriam Run Mile and Quarter at Churchill Downs This Afternoon

Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 17.—Partly cloudy weather and a fast track are in prospect today for the Zev-In Memoriam race at Churchill Downs. Trainers and owners of both thoroughbreds maintained confidence they would carry off their share of the $20,000 prize which goes to the horse first under the wire at the end of a mile and a quarter distance. Forty thousand are expected to witness the contest.

FRANK BALL CASE TO JURY TODAY

Local Man Tried in London for Participation in Carthage Shooting

The Frank Ball case, being tried in London this week is expected to be given into the hands of the jury some time this afternoon, according to reports here today from London where the case is being tried before Judge A. T. W. Manning. A large number of persons from Middlesboro are in attendance at the trial as witnesses and in other roles.

Frank Ball is charged with participation in the shooting affray which took place at Pineville a year ago last May the day on which George Colson was to have been tried for the murder of Dr. Ball. Riley Ball was killed on this occasion and Frank Ball, Clay Colson and John Hurst, a cousin of the Colsons, were wounded. Frank Ball and Clay Colson met in the Circuit clerk's office in Pineville on the morning of this day and the purpose of the trial now under way is to determine which of the two drew his gun and started the shooting which terminated so fatally.

The trial has been postponed a number of times but finally started Thursday.

WANT VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS HERE

Former Soldiers Seek Enough Members in Middlesboro to Obtain Charter

Tentative arrangements for the organization of a post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars order here are being made and a meeting for that purpose will be held in the near future. Ten applications for membership in the order have been made, this being a sufficient number to obtain a charter.

The objects of the association are fraternal, patriotic, historical and educational, any man who has served honorably with the army, navy or marine corps of the United States on foreign soil or in foreign waters in any foreign war or campaign recognized by the United States government.

The organization now numbers over one thousand posts and its membership has passed the 1000 mark. State departments have been organized in all the states. As a society, the organization was launched in September, 1909, by fourteen veterans of the Spanish war.

The exact date or place of the organization meeting has not been announced. A. D. DeBusk has been active in the preliminary organization work.

DAILY NEWS EDITORIAL TO BE PRESERVED IN HARDING SHRINE

Recognition of the Middlesboro Daily News by the Harding Memorial Association is made in a letter received yesterday thanking the editor for response to a previous letter in which the Association asked for any clippings the News might have printed on the late president.

We quote the following from the letter: "The editorial from the Middlesboro Daily News under the date August 3, 1923, under the caption, 'Tribute to Our Dear Leader,' will be suitably preserved in the Harding Shrine at Marion where it is planned to perpetuate the memorials of the late president's life." The editorial was written by R. L. Kincaid.

MANY ATTEND FIRELESS
COOKER DEMONSTRATIONS

Several hundred persons have attended the fireless cooker demonstration at the K. U. salesroom this week and a number of the automatic electric stoves have been sold, according to W. E. Jones, local salesman. J. B. Riley and Miss Louise Hamann, demonstrators, will be at the K. U. headquarters at Pineville for demonstrations next week.

Hot lunches and coffee prepared by the demonstrators on the automatic cooker, were served throughout each day of the week. An Easter supper was prepared and served last night.

Masonic Notes

Pinnacle lodge No. 641 P. and A. M. of Middlesboro last night conferred the P. C. degree on Rex Lee Pickler. On Tuesday night of next week Middlesboro chapter No. 135 Royal Arch Masons will confer the master degree on a class of six candidates.

World's Largest Flag

More than 1200 yards of material was used in making this gigantic American flag, unfurled in Detroit on Armistice Day. It weighs 600 pounds and occupies 760 cubic feet of space when folded. It is 150 feet by 90 feet and the blue field is 49 by 60 feet. Photo shows seamstresses sewing in stars and stripes. Hitherto, the biggest flag "championship" has been held by St. Louis, with a banner 78 by 150 feet.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Strikes put "kick" into the coal market and have afforded the principal source of high profits for operators, P. G. Tyrone, statistical adviser for the Federal Coal Commission, said in an address here today. He added "interplay of competitive forces has brought it about the industry has nothing to lose and much to gain by a strike. He said, however, that he had no thought that strikes were arranged deliberately to influence the market."

ONLY THREE ATTEND QUEENS-
BURY AUCTION LOT SALE

With three persons attending the auction lot sale of Parcel Constanza on Queensbury Heights yesterday, the lots, as might be expected, did not go like the proverbial "hot cakes." Capt. W. H. Davis, the auctioneer, was all set for the job but, considering the limited size of the audience, he did not begin his spiel. Some of the lots were sold. The owner is now engaged in negotiations which may culminate in the private sale of the property.

Potential Presidents

Joe Bertolozzi, former popular proprietor of the White Star here, has returned from several months' sojourn in Italy, accompanied by his bride, formerly Miss Gemma Duranti of Florence, Italy, to whom he was married in Florence, April 21. Mr. Bertolozzi left here last February. He has spent the time since his marriage, traveling and visiting in Italy, his native land. Joe says that he is seriously considering opening up in Middlesboro again if he can find a suitable location and his many patrons here who remember his excellent service are encouraging him in this project. He and Mrs. Bertolozzi are living in his home on Twenty-first street.

BOGGS PRAISES ROAD WORK HERE

Compliments Middlesboro and Other Towns for Improvement on Deodar Streets

Citizens of Middlesboro and other towns of southeastern Kentucky are complimented by State Highway Commissioner Joe S. Boggs of Frankfort, in a letter just received by George Schenck, manager of the Hotel Cumberland.

Mr. Schenck, realizing the tremendous value of getting this great central highway opened up, wrote Mr. Boggs, urging contract for the work between Harboursville and Corbin be awarded as soon as possible. Mr. Boggs reply follows:

"I have your letter and feel sure if bids received on the 27th of this month for surfacing the new grade between Corbin and Harboursville are reasonable that the Commission will award the contract for this work."

"The citizens of Middlesboro and the other towns in southeastern Kentucky are to be highly complimented on taking the steps they have for keeping in a passable condition a detour from Corbin to Harboursville."

TWO MURDER CASES ON COURT DOCKET

Middlesboro Man and Woman are Defendants in Trials Here Next Week

Two murder cases will be the center of interest in the Bell circuit court which convenes here Monday, both of them concerning Middlesboro parties. The first is that of T. I. Green, who killed A. V. Ogle here over a business deal several years ago. Green has never been tried, but it is understood the case will be tried this week. The other case is the Commonwealth vs. Rhonda Walker who is accused of killing a peddler by the name of Arnold in her home about two years ago. She was tried last year, found guilty and given a life sentence. The Court of Appeals reversed the case and it will be tried again next week.

The case of Commonwealth vs. Isaac Walker, et al. of Fonda, for handling and confederating is also docketed for next week as well as a number of other cases. Judge J. G. Forrester will preside.

AMERICAN FLAGS AND BIBLES GIVEN OUTLYING SCHOOLS

American flags and Bibles were presented to the four outlying schools by Council No. 78, Jr. O. U. A. M., Wednesday morning.

Supt. J. W. Bradner, the Rev. W. K. McClure and W. H. Gibson conducted the presentation exercises. Mr. Gibson, a member of the order who had been selected to make the presentation speech, made a brief but impressive address giving a Bible and the Stars and Stripes to the schools at the Junction, Binghamtown, Noatown and the East End.

Chief among the principles of the Junior order are reverence for the Holy Bible and respect for the American flag and particular stress is laid upon their importance in the public school. Thousands of flags and Bibles have been presented to public schools in various states by the order.

RESIDENCE SERVES AS COM-MISSARY AT FORK RIDGE

With an ordinary residence house converted into a commissary, the work at Fork Ridge has scarcely been interrupted by the recent conflagration which destroyed the commissary, entire stock of goods and two dwellings. Groceries which were ordered while the building was burning were received before 8 o'clock, causing little inconvenience to residents of the camp who needed supplies.

The dwelling will be used until a large new commissary is constructed and no temporary building will be made for the supplies, according to the latest plans. No information whatever concerning plans for a new building or the definite amount of the loss has been given out by officials of the firm.

MUCH LESS WILD GAME AF-TER ONSLAUGHT THIS WEEK

Rabbits, ducks and other species of wild game were fugitives from the deadly aim of the hunters in this section Thursday. Though no great number of casualties in the wild animal domains have been reported, an unusual array of hunters sallied forth for prey.

The hunting season for rabbits and ducks opened Wednesday, this accounting for large number of hunters out. Not many rabbits were seen in the near town, according to reports, though hunters who ventured farther from home had better luck.

ANNOUNCE RATES ON TREAS-URY SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

The present issue of Treasury Savings certificates will be sold at the following rates: $1000 for $882, $500 for $441, and $250 for $220.50. These rates became effective November 15, according to information issued at the local postoffice this morning.

A new issue of certificates on terms even more attractive will be made December 1. $1000 certificates may be bought for $800; $500 for $400, and $250 for $200. These will bear interest at the rate of 4 1/2% if held for five years, the time of maturity and 3 1/2% if redeemed before that time. The issue of September 30, 1922, must not be sold by the postmaster after November 30.

Final Effort to Save Entente From Dislocation Put Off Till Monday—France Break With Germany Seen as Worst Menace

FURTHER MILITARY OPERATION MAY UPSET ALL OF EUROPE

Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Final effort to save the entente from dislocation will probably be put off until Monday. As the British cabinet seemingly is not ready to give the final word to Lord Crewe, British ambassador here, as to his position on application of further penalties upon Germany. The effort which will be made meanwhile to prevent a break is regarded in political circles here as despairing. It is thought the British and French governments are too far apart to make an agreement possible.

Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Unnamed British statesmen in today's telegraph, commenting on the Franco-British relations, says the situation is far more critical than the British people imagine. He says the danger lies not in a break between the two countries, but in the menace of a final break between France and Germany in which case further military operations will become inevitable and bring tumbling down the whole shaken German structure and precipitate central Europe in a turmoil.

MANY TEACHERS AT MEETING YESTERDAY

Clatskanie County Educators Convened at L. M. U. Yesterday—Guests at Luncheon

HARROGATE, Nov. 17.—More than 80 teachers attended the regular monthly meeting of the Clatskanie county teachers which was held at Lincoln Memorial University on Friday, November 16. The teachers were also the guests of the University at luncheon. The program was held in the main auditorium.

Among the visitors was Senator Sam E. Hill, of Knoxville, who spoke to the teachers on the influence of the teacher on the community. Senator Hill was at one time county superintendent of Knox county and he related many of his own experiences to illustrate his talk.

President Robert Orville Matthews of the University, made a forceful address on the importance of the teaching profession which he said was superior to all other professions with perhaps the exception of the Christian minister. He stressed the inspirational power of the teacher and said that no other field in America offered the same opportunity for real service to the people.

Other speakers were Prof. J. E. Lowrey of the Education Department, Dean T. B. Ford, Miss Effie Gidger, H. E. Wallace, George Hill and Mrs. Bessie Anderson, all of whom talked on some special phase or problem of teaching.

The meeting adjourned at 2 p. m.

J. W. Carter Buys Lumber Yard

The lumber yard on the eastern side of the railroad tracks near the Kentucky Mine Supply company has been bought from the Wolfe Tie Company by J. W. A THOUGHT

The simple believeth every word; but the prudent man looketh well to his going.—Prov. 14:15.

It is a curious paradox that precisely in proportion to our own intellectual weakness, will be our credulity as to the mysterious powers assumed by others.—Colton.

BRITISH FREE TRADE

The "government" of Great Britain, which is to say the administration of Premier Baldwin, wants a protective tariff. It is a startling thing in view of the established free trade policy of that country. Parliament is dubious about it, and so the premier is sending Parliament home and calling for an election on the issue.

The United States, which has a protective tariff in varying degree almost continuously for three-quarters of a century, will be greatly interested in the outcome. Premier Baldwin looks upon protective duties as a remedy for the appalling unemployment now afflicting his country. If the people endorse his proposal, and it goes into effect, our own people will find it worth while observing, to see whether it works as anticipated, and what the effect will be on our own industry.

There should be no less interest in the political process involved in this British election. The administration announces, on November 13, that it wants a national verdict on the tariff. The election will be held on December 6. If the verdict is favorable, Great Britain may have its new tariff in January. There is political flexibility and speed unknown in this country. It usually takes us two years to get a national verdict on anything.

DEMOCRACY'S RELIANCE

Harrogate, Tenn., has started a movement for the nomination of Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, for the presidency. It isn't stated which of the two parties he is to be the candidate of, but that is simply a matter of detail these days. Mr. Lowden could be a democratic as consistently as he could be a republican nominee, for there is nothing now fundamentally differentiating one party from the other. From indications now apparent we are going to have an opportunity of voting for a label only. The democrats never had a more arduous time than the present to enunciate a platform that would mean some thing, that would present issues of real principle; but they are going to be afraid of issues and appear to be relying more upon republican mistakes than on anything they themselves have to offer for the "healing of the nation." Chattanooga Times.

A MOUNTAIN PROJECT

No one can travel over the Boone Highway between Pineville and Middlesboro without being impressed with the natural beauty of the Kentucky Mountains. The bowl, surrounded by hills, where Pineville is located, seems an ideal site for a health resort. Around the mountains there are miles on miles suitable for recreation grounds. On the plain, where Middlesboro sits in an expanse of blue-crocks with Cumberland Gap affording a natural gateway to the east, is the perfect location for a great city. To the people of the valleys and the meadows, here the out-of-door seems to echo the call of the woods and the hills and the streams.

But the tourist, who has visited this section, has not discovered these possibilities. Though they have not been developed, as in many States, they have not been unappreciated. Business men of Pineville and Middlesboro already have launched a movement to build in the heart of the mountain country a recreation center, aided as they are by the natural beauty of the scenery. Within a few miles of Pineville on Clear Creek it is proposed to build a tabernacle for the use of conventions. The plans call for a hotel, an artificial lake, golf links, athletic field, bathing beach, bathhouses, drive ways, birded paths, parks and bungalow sites. It is much more than a real estate proposition. It is a civic movement for a Lake Chautauqua or Winona Lake in the midst of the Kentucky hills.

Those States which heretofore have laid claim to having the great national playgrounds may yet have a contender for the honor in the Pineville-Middlesboro project.—Courier-Journal.

Berton Braley's Poem

THE PRINCE
"I wait for Prince Charming," she said,
Prince Charming, blithe, slender and young,
With curly gold hair on his head
And gay banished words on his tongue.

Oh, he will be handsome and tall
And he will be valiant and strong,
A Prince with the world at his call,
A figure of story and song!

"I wait for Prince Charming," she said,
"To set all my heart-strings a-tremor,
And ere many seasons have fled,
I know, oh I know he will come!
He'll woo me with glorious art,
With tenderness, passion and fire,
No other shall capture my heart,
Or bring me the love I desire!"

He's fat and he's placid and short,
His wooing was clumsy and tame,
He's only a commonplace sort Devoid of renown or acclaim;
And yet when she gazes at him,
He sets her pulses a-tremor,
For, thanks to Love's magical whim,
He's truly Prince Charming to her!

NO. 20—A LETTER IN TIME SAVES ONE

"I forgot. I can't read," he gobbled.

Mister Wild Turkey, flew up to a tree top in Dixie Land. He was so fat he couldn't fly very well, but any- ar and him at the world below and feeling very well satisfied with him- self.

"Hello!" he gobbled as his sharp eyes made out two little figures climbing the hill toward him. "I'll have to be careful! Here come two humans. But mercy me on us, they ain't much bigger than I am, so I needn't be afraid I guess. Besides, they don't have any of those long iron sticks that explode at one end and make me so nervous."

Nancy and Nick came quite near. "Hello, Mister Turkey, we've been looking for you," called Nick.

"That's what everybody says," answered Mister Turkey with a chuckle. "But I usually don't stay long enough to find out what it is they want me for. Some of my friends have stayed and I never saw them again. Well, a young man, what is it?"

"The Fairy Queen sent us a letter to give to you," said Nick. "We just found it in the Dixie Land Post Office."

"You don't say so!" exclaimed Mister Turkey. "Why, I never got a letter in my life! Why I'm so excited I'm getting dizzy! I'll have to get down off this tree before I fall." And down he flew. But suddenly he forgot, oh no, "I forgot. I can't read," he gobbled.

"That is, I can't read unless it's written in Turkish," said Nick.

Nancy laughed. "No, it's written in magic. I'll have to read it to you. Here's what it says—

"Dear Mister Wild Turkey: 'There is a time coming soon called Thanksgiving. It's a very nice time of the year for most people, but not so good for turkeys. And it's just as bad for wild turkeys as it is for tame turkeys.'

"I suppose you think it is queer that so many people in Dixie Land have so much grain in their grain fields and even scatter pans of it here and there where you can get at it, but it isn't queer at all! They want you to get fat. The fatter the better. But if you don't eat for awhile you'll get thin and you'll be far safer. If I were you I'd leave myself for a spell. And I would go and live on a mountain top until Thanksgiving is over."

"Your friend 'The Fairy Queen.'"

"You'd better go," advised Nick. "I've started already," said Mister Gobbler, flapping his wings.

America's Favorite Songs

Styles of love making change with the generations, as do the songs which reflect them. Young lovers of today who listen to the plaintive ballads beloved by their fathers and mothers, come to the conclusion that there must have been little humor in the courtship of those days.

"Juanita," by Mrs. Caroline Norton, is characteristic of the wistful love songs of that time. Mrs. Norton was born Caroline Elizabeth Sarah Sheridan, daughter of Thomas Sheridan, whose father was Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the famous Irish wit and playwright.

Unhappy

"At the age of 19 Caroline married Honorable George Chapple Norton, but her life proved so unhappy that she separated from him. She devoted herself to writing, and much of her inspiration was drawn from her sympathy with suffering in any form.

While the words of "Juanita" were written by a British woman and supposedly adapted to a Spanish air, the history of the song has been so distinctly American as to justify a belief that the music was molded in this country, if not actually written here.

Mrs. Norton married Sir William

Sterling Maxwell in 1877 and three months later she died.

"Juanita"

Soft o'er the fountain,
Ling'ring falls the southern moon;
Far o'er the mountain,
Breaks the day too soon!
In thy dark eyes splendor,
Where the warm light loves to dwell.

Weary looks, yet tender.

Speak their fond farewell.

Nita! Juanita!

Ask thy soul if we should part!

Nita! Juanita!

Lean thou on my heart.

When in the dreaming

Moons like these shall shine again,

And daylight beams.

Prove thy dreams are vain.

Will thou not, relenting,

For rhine absent lover sigh?

In thy heart consenting

To a prayer zone by?

Nita! Juanita!

Let me linger by thy side!

Nita! Juanita!

Be my own Fair Bride.

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO HER FIANCE, RICHARD SCUDGERS

My dear Dick:

Although you have not answered my last letter, I am writing this to let you know that I have seen Miss Perier's picture. Triumphant Heart!

She is either a great actress or she has suffered some similar experience. Of course I prefer to think, as you probably do, that she is a great actress.

You will be glad to know that the picture is making a great success here in this part of the country. Did you know that Miss Perier once lived in Albany and Jack Prescott was quite attentive to her? Because recently a baby was hit outside the Prescotts' door the picture made quite a sensation when it was shown there. I have heard about it from several of my Albany friends. Of course I don't know how Leslie feels about it. She seems to be the only one from whom I have not heard.

If, by any possibility, Miss Perier has had any similar experience in the past, she is very brave to put her name on the picture as assisting the author.

One of my friends wrote me every one is now insisting that Jack Prescott is the father of the child which his wife has adopted and most of the people who are retelling this scandalous gossip are wondering if Leslie to visit France in a sedan.

News from Paris. French offer America wine for wheat. We often make booze out of rye and corn.

Scientists are digging up strange thick skulls in California. Is it another movie scandal?

The sun never sets on American Legion Posts or on scandals in the War Department.

European hotel men are visiting America. Now's our chance.

Do you use sheets at your house? They are dangerous. In Boston, last France and it would have been bet-gars tied a man with one.

He is aware of the fact. Of course, Dick, I know Leslie is the only one who has not the slightest suspicion in the matter. Why is it that husbands and wives are the last ones to know any scandalous gossip that is retailed about either of them?

Another one of my Albany friends tells me that Jack Prescott is looking terribly. She seems to think that he is frightened to death for fear Leslie will suspect something and she thinks that this picture is Paula Perier's way of getting even. Miss Perier, however, could not have had much heart if she gave her baby away and then put her story upon the screen for all the world to see. She must have had another motive, always providing that the story is her own and true.

You might ask her, Dick, if she knows Mr. Prescott. It almost seems a coincidence of this kind could not be unless someone had planned it. At least that is the general impression among the people of Albany. However, we have been told nothing can be written in fiction that stranger things may not come up in real life, and perhaps Leslie's baby was laid at her door by some poor woman whose husband, being dead, left her with no means with which to support it.

Probably Miss Perier has never found occasion to give away a baby to anyone. However I am a little curious to know how much of the story was supplied by Cora Moore and how much by Paula Perier.

I'm rather anxious to know just what you will think of my last letter, Dick. I confess I wrote it when I was a little peered. It seemed to me that you would have given me the privilege of deciding whether I would come to Hollywood or not. As it was you very politely but decisively told me to stay away.

As I said in that letter, I have no intention of coming to you until you really want me—and if you wait too long there is a possibility that I may not want to come at all.

Beatrice.

Do You Remember

Do you remember the hour you told me
That you were soon to be going away?
Even the sunlight which seemed to enfold me
Flickered and faded and died that day.
We paused a moment to hear the city
Surging and singing in our ears; Deep in your heart was a fount of pity,
Hidden in mine was a well of tears.
Yet we stood laughing and speaking only
In happy phrases how you would be
Up and on, but my soul was lonely Thinking, that I should be bound, you free.

Little we dreamed that the year before us
Held that for which we had waited long;
Now ever round us, about us, o'er us
Wings love's eternal and mystical

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Sandwiches

The sandwich that makes a meal is ideal to serve at noontime luncheon on in the evening after cards.
The luncheon sandwich, not being a company affair, is often made of left-overs. No two sandwiches need to be alike as a filling for as they are individual servings one does not interfere with the other. They can be served open or closed in true sandwich fashion.

The evening sandwich, with a cup of coffee, chocolate or any beverage preferred is easy and quick to prepare and serve and is far more popular with men than tiny "tea" sandwiches, salads or too much sweet stuff.

Ham Sandwich

One slice ham cut 1 inch thick, canned sliced pineapple, sifted cracker crumbs, head lettuce, toast.

Broil ham under a gas flame or over a coal or electric fire. Drain pineapple from juice and dip in cracker crumbs. Sauté a delicate brown in butter or drop in deep hot fat. Put a leaf of crisp chilled head lettuce on a triangle of fresh buttered toast, add a piece of ham, cover ham with pineapple and another leaf of lettuce and top with a covering of toast.

Toasted Sausage Sandwiches

Remove skins and bones from sausages. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Put between thin slices of bread and butter. Toast in a hot oven or under the broiler.

Hot Cheese Sandwich

One-half pound American toll cream cheese, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tea-spoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-8 teaspoon mustard, paprika, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk.
Melt cheese over hot water. Stir in butter and eggs slightly beaten.
Cook, stirring constantly until smooth.
Add milk and cook a few minutes longer. Serve as an open sandwich or small triangles of toast.

Tea-Room Sandwich

One cream cheese, 2 tablespoons cream, 2 tablespoons minced olives, 2 table-spoons minced pineapples, 2 tablespoons chopped nuts, head lettuce, mayonnaise, whole wheat bread.

Work cheese smooth with cream.
Add olives, pineapples and nuts and enough mayonnaise to make quite moist. Wash and chill lettuce. Spread bread lightly and evenly with butter.
Cover each slice of bread with a leaf of lettuce, add a layer of the filling and top with a slice of buttered bread.

Chopped Egg Sandwich

Three hard boiled eggs, lettuce mayonnaise, bread and butter.

Shell eggs and chop whites and yolks. Mix with mayonnaise to make very moist, almost one cup of mayonmaise can be used. Either leaf or head lettuce can be used. Cut lettuce in shreds, and then cut the ribbons in short lengths. Add to the mayonnaise mixture, using about two cups lettuce to one cup mayonnaise. Put between thin slices of bread and butter.

Cheese Squares

One cup soft cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 table-spoons soft bread crumbs, 1 tea-spoon mustard, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 1 table-spoon minced sweet pepper, few grains sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, paprika, squares of bread.

Cut bread not more than threeeighths of an inch thick. Cut off crusts and cut in two inch squares.
Toast quickly. Mix cheese, butter, bread crumbs, pepper, mustard vinegar, sugar, and salt to a smooth paste.
Spread a toasted square, dust with paprika and put in a hot oven to melt the cheese. Serve at once.

The land has been purchased, the grounds have been laid out, the first lake is under construction and everything points to a great demand for bungallow sites. Every penny received for these sites, above selling expenses, will be used on the encampment improvements.

Let's make this the greatest achievement in our history
let's create this wonderful encampment to which people will come from throughout Kentucky and adjoining states for recreation and study.

Every person in Middlesboro who can afford it and who can appreciate the pleasure and benefits of such an institution should own an encampment site where he can build a cottage or summer home in this stimulating, health-giving atmosphere.

It is the consensus of opinion of those well acquainted with the situation that an investment in these sites is sound, and that those who procrastinate until November 22, will be unable to obtain a bungalow site thereafter.

NEW YORK NEWS LETTER

by Carol Colbourne

New York.—New York City educators are particularly interested in Motion Picture Book Week and Children's Book Week which are together to be nationally observed Nov. 11-17 and are doing their share to make it known to the children and to aid in every possible fashion.

Ernest L. Crandall Director of Lectures and Visual Instruction in the New York schools, is enthusiastic over the movement.
"I know of no greater service that can be rendered in connection with motion pictures, than to make them contribute to the child's love of reading," said Mr. Crandall.
"Our observation has been that the filming of standard literature does just that."

"It is a movement that every school superintendent, principal and teacher will approve of, I am certain, and the immense amount of good direction that can be given through this annual 'Motion Picture Book Week' cannot be estimated. It is something that will bear its profits all through the life of the child, who receives the impulse toward good books from the films. We know that the film is doing a good work but it is like everything else—it is sometimes not properly used and it is not good for children to see all the films that are shown."

"The list of films selected by the Committee for Better Films of the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures is a good one. I am sure it will meet with the approval of educators, whose influence can be used to have exhibitors show these films in their theatres, not only during Motion Picture Book Week but also at other times during the year."

"Educators and those interested in community service are interested in improving the films and here is an excellent opportunity for them to further this cause. The exhibitor must have it demonstrated to him that it is equally as profitable for him to show good photoplays as it is those of the poorer kind. With the better forces of the communities working together this can be done."

FORMER LOCAL MAN TRIED FOR PERJURY

John Hensley Accused of False Swearing, Hung Jury is Result

PINEVILLE, Nov. 17.—One of the most interesting trials in the history of the Bell county court was conducted here during the last two days. John Hensley, charged with false swearing in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Will, alias Buck Brackett and Willie Hendrickson, charged with maliciously shooting each other. The jury was out several hours, then reported a hung jury.

A peculiar circumstance worth noting here is the fact that both Hendrickson and Brackett filed indictments against each other for shooting and wounding each other. The Commonwealth took immediate action, indicted both, convicting both and sending them to the penitentiary at Frankfort for a short term. Hendrickson and Brackett were brought back under guard to serve as witnesses in the case against Hensley. The defense, represented by Judge Gilbert of Pineville, had over twenty witnesses, while the Commonwealth represented by Captain Golden, district attorney, had a similar number.

The trial centers on the fact that John Hensley testified that in the above case that Will Brackett, alias Buck Brackett, and came to his home the Sunday evening preceding the Monday of the shooting "good dark," and had remained there until ten or ten-thirty that night, while the Commonwealth holds that Will, alias Buck Brackett had been to the post office between 7 and 8 o'clock that night and had called for the mail for the "Bracketts." Witnesses on the prosecuting side swear that Will Brackett was at the post office at that time.

the witnesses being the postmaster at Four Mile, his wife and two daughters. The defense testifies that the Bracketts, Will and Tom, arrived at his home at "good dark" and remained there until after ten o'clock. They claim that the Bracketts met Hensley at the railroad crossing, they walked together to their home and stopped there. From there, they started, they went immediately to the home of Shelton, arriving about "good dark" and remaining there until ten or ten-thirty that night. Near the close of the day, a slight sensation was created. Millard Crech, witness for the defense, stated that he had seen them on the afternoon of Sunday night at the depot, and that one of the Brackett boys Will or Tom had a shotgun, while the other had something shiny in his hand which resembled a pistol. Millard Crech said that he was accompanied by another witness who when brought to the stand testified that he had not been with Crech on Sunday night, but that he had been with him at the depot the Saturday night preceding and that he had seen the two Brackett boys at the depot, one with a revolver and the other a shotgun.

At the close of the testimony, Judge Gilbert entered an eloquent plea for the defense of the accused man. He stated that they were trying the defendant for selling liquor as he had been accused by witnesses, but for jury and that it was nothing but just that the jury consider that, and that only. He appealed to the jury in regard to the conflicting evidence of the prosecuting side, namely, the fact that Crech had stated that it was on Sunday night and that a young man named Goodwin, who had accompanied him to the depot stated that he was with Crech on Saturday night preceding that Sunday and that they had been to the depot and had seen Brackett and his brother there. The agent at the Four Mile station, Mr. Wood, however, had stated that he had returned there for a bucket of coal and that he had seen the Bracketts there at the same time, Sunday night. At the end of the plea the admonition to the jury was read by the court to the jury and they were dismissed until they would render a verdict. The jury remained in conference for several hours and was discharged, it being a hung jury. According to statements it were for acquittal and one for conviction. The trial was continued until the February term of the court.

5, 10, AND 25 CENT STORE OPENS IN PINEVILLE

PINEVILLE, Nov. 17.—McKarn Bros. open their doors today to the public. The store has been preparing for an opening for the last two weeks, but have been unable to on account of the immense shipment of goods that had been ordered. The firm is classed as a 5, 10 and 25 cent store, but will handle some few items retailing as high as some dollar. The McKarn firm come from Jellico, Tenn., and stated today that they expected to do a good business here as their prices are lower than the average, considering that they buy the smaller items in large bulk. At present they will handle nonperishable goods, eliminating any loss of that kind, consequently lowering the prices on their present stock.

Your Health

Urticari
Urticari, or nettle rash, is a common disturbance from normal body condition, which shows itself as a skin eruption in wheal formation. It is of rather wide range in cause, intensity and length of attack. It occurs in youth and in middle life, rarely in old age.

In an acute attack, the coming or outbreak of the wheals on the surface of the skin is sudden, producing rather intense itching. They may appear on any part of the body. They come and go rapidly in acute attacks, sometimes with little or no pain. Oftentimes these wheals are only the size of a more inflammatory papule. Sometimes they are large as a 25-cent piece and in other cases even larger. They are more or less oval in shape. They vary from intense red to waxy white.

Sometimes, owing to peculiarities of the patient's skin, the wheals will show a waxlike center with a narrow red periphery.

These acute attacks oftentimes result from some disturbances in the gastro-intestinal system and are some what transient in character. The symptoms are a slight rise in body temperature, pulse increase, accompanied by nausea and vomiting. The tongue is furred, the breath foul and there is more or less prostration.

This attack is sometimes the result of a run-down condition and from worry or unfavorable living conditions. In children, the cause is over-eating or taking the wrong kind of food.

To people who are nervous and sensitive, urticaria may be brought on by the most trivial causes.

Treatment of acute forms may be the giving of a brisk cathartic, such as magnesium sulphate. Fast a day or two. Local treatment, to allay the itching may be a sponge bath of bicarbonate of soda. In chronic urticaria, the sufferer must undergo careful treatment by a physician.

Fruits are good food for such cases and pure water is a good drink. Thorough elimination must be maintained.

Plan Thanksgiving Dinner
COLMAGE, Nov. 17.—The Rebecca are planning a Thanksgiving dinner for the children. The committee is composed of Mrs. O. L. Flannery, Mrs. John Higham and Mrs. Joe Peace.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Leather bags and suit cases that are worn and rusty, may be greatly improved by a coat of shoe polish and a thorough brushing to make them shine.

Plant nasturtiums or sweet potatoes in the winter window box. The vines, trailing up the sash are most attractive. The nasturtiums will bloom freely.

A child, wearing socks in winter, uses up more reserve vitality in keeping warm, than would otherwise be used to conserve his health. A child of child is more susceptible to contagious diseases. Mothers, be wise, put long stockings on the children, till summer comes.

Circle No. 1 of the Presbyterian Church met with Mrs. Adella Richmond Thursday afternoon. The following were present: The Rev. and Mrs. I. S. Anderson, Mrs. Mary Beatty, Fannie Richmond, Shan Richmond, Mrs. Jones, Mando Bales, Evelyn Bales, Misses Florence and Mary Bayless. Mrs. Mary Beatty was elected leader and Mrs. Evelyn Bales secretary-treasurer to serve the remainder of the fiscal year which ends in March. The subject for the meeting was "Brazil." Besides several readings on the topic, Mrs. Anderson gave an interesting report from Montreal missionary conference.

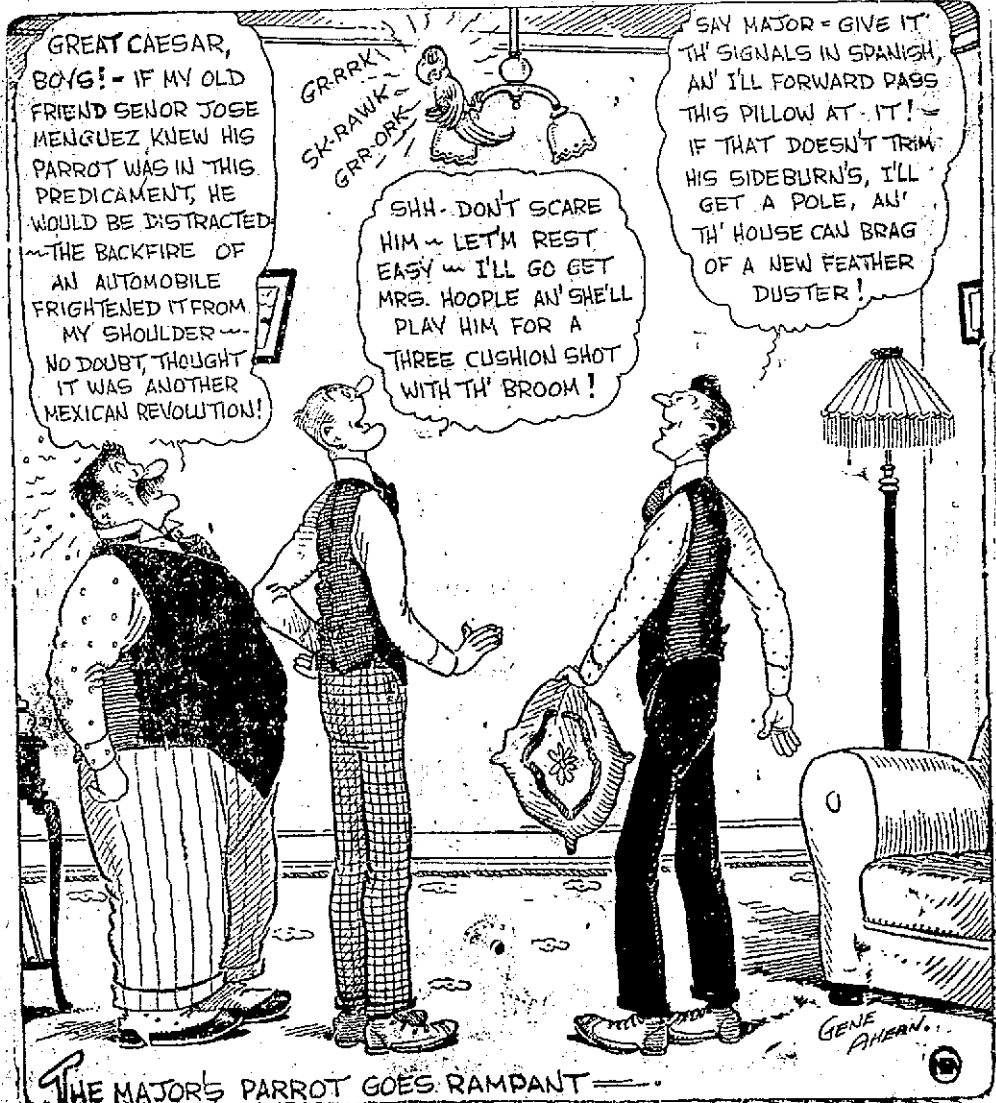

Miss Jackson, superintendent of Grace Nettleton Home at Harrogate, was canvassing this vicinity this week asking for donations of food for the Home's Thanksgiving dinner.

The Rose Hill Oil Developing Co. began drilling their third well Monday morning and at the present writing are down 200 feet. The formation has all but shale and prospects look good. "They expect to make this a deep test well."

CUMBERLAND GAP

Miss Jess Walters of Union county arrived Friday to be a guest of her sister, Mrs. A. M. Carr.

Mrs. Kemp Hyatt and little daughter, Elizabeth Anne and Mrs. J. W. Orr of Jonesville are week-end guests of Dr. and Mrs. James S. Morison.

Miss Hattie Kesterson of Cayh is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. H. S. Morison Monday.

Neil Carmack of Tazewell was in town Friday.

Mrs. Will Salvers was called to El Dorado, Ark. this week by sudden illness of her daughter, Mrs. Reeves.

Mrs. O. B. Rowland and son Ben Gordon, of Corbin, are week-end guests of Mrs. Edwin White.

POWELL VALLEY

Miss Ethel Brewer, daughter of Joe Brewer, was married to Earnest Partin one day last week.

Marriage licenses were issued recently to Mr. Tolliver and Miss Eva Robinson, daughter of Jonah Robinson. They will get married Sunday.

The Baptists of Haynes' Flat church are planning to build a fine church near the old one in the near future. Grover Sharp, Lem Sharp, and Lem Templein are members of the finance committee. Several hundred dollars have already been subscribed.

The Methodist church at Mountain View will have a particularly interesting service next Sunday by the pastor who will be assisted by the Rev. Martin who will preach. Brother Martin is a wonderful preacher and a large attendance is expected at this service.

The Valley folks were sorry to hear of the death of Rev. Osborne. He had many friends here, having been the pastor of a church here.

Mrs. Joannah Wright is having a beautiful residence erected on her farm. C. C. Madon and Mr. Owens are the carpenters.

George Evans is having a large barn built.

The Rev. Theodore Brantley delivered a splendid sermon at the Red Hill church last Sunday. As usual there was a large crowd to hear him. He announced that he would begin a series of meetings at an early date.

The attendance at Powell's Valley high school is splendid this year. Prof. Wallins is all that is expected and patrons, teachers and pupils are pleased with his ability as a leader, school principal and promoter.

The Red Star Store company was so highly pleased with the exhibit at the Knoxville fair for the Powell's Valley high school that a brand new Red Star oil stove was shipped to the school as a present last week. Miss Strong, domestic science teacher, says the stove is a valuable asset in her department.

Miss Eva Yeakum who has been teaching at Russell's school has been transferred to the Lily Grove school. She is delighted with her patrons, pupils and boarding place.

Mrs. Tina Thomas has sent out invitations to the members of the Mountain View church, school teachers and many others to attend a "Get-together" party at her residence Saturday. Mrs. Laura K. Wright and Miss Effie Gidges will attend the teachers' meeting at L. M. U. Friday.

FOREST FIRES DESTROYING

MANY TREES ON ROCKY FORD

COLMAR, Nov. 17.—Like a bright streak of lightning playing over the surface of a dark storm cloud, a forest fire extending across Rocky Ford from the shore of Yellow Creek to the shore of Cannon Creek can be seen at night, slowly creeping along unmolested by human hands, destroying thousands and thousands of dollars' worth of Kentucky's young forest. "Where are our fire chiefs that the people of Kentucky are paying to protect the forest? Hanging around some extract joint spending what the Kentucky people should be benefiting by."

Forest fires can be prevented. Let every body take precautions against forest fires and when they break out extinguish them.

ONE BEST BET

CAPTAIN M'RAE

Nebraska's strong line is given the credit for the defeat of Knute Rockne's great Notre Dame eleven. When Coach Fred Dawson's surprise team meets Syracuse at Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 24, the westerners will face one of the strongest set of forwards in the east. Captain McRae is one of the best lines men of the year. It was his ability to break through the Penn State line and block a punt that resulted in a touchdown and made possible a victory over Hugh Downs' last year's aggregation.

PLEASED WITH VISIT TO MIDDLESBORO

Editor of Central Methodist Tells of Trip to Conference Here

Thomas L. Hulse, editor of the Central Methodist, who was a delegate to the Danville District conference of Southern Methodists here last week, makes the following interesting comments on Middleboro in his paper:

"Coal mining is the chief industry of Middleboro, and while the boom of recent years has somewhat subsided, it still has an air of prosperity about it, and the large number of beautiful and well-furnished houses give evidence of a prosperous and contented people. From one of the large coal operators we learned that the annual output of coal amounted to not less than two millions of tons."

"Methodism is strong in Middleboro. Its forces were united, but unfortunately each branch of the church has a congregation here, and as a result Methodism is not the force in the life of the community which the conditions demand. One finds in such a situation a strong argument in favor of unification."

"We have rarely spent a more pleasant day than the one spent with these faithful preachers. It was with sincere regret that we left them at the end of their first day. Their kindness and many courtesies shall not soon be forgotten. It's a hard trip from Middleboro to Louisville when made in the night, but a pullman ticket presented by one of the generous laymen of the church gave us access to a comfortable berth and we reached our destination Thursday morning, fresh and fit for the hard day's work which awaited us."

"A trip to Middleboro, Ky., took the editor into a section of the state where he had not visited hitherto, and to say that he was delighted and surprised at the beauty and prosperity of the country is a rather mild way of putting it."

"The night of November 5 was spent near Danville with a friend and former parishioner, Mr. Hamibal McKeith. It was a source of great pleasure to renew our acquaintance and friendship with this elect family and during an evening of social fellowship around the fireside, recall the friends and the events of former days."

Mrs. Joe Maroon is seriously ill at her home at 2123 Lathrop avenue. Her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Whittle, of Morrisstown, Tenn., and her sons, and Joe Edmund and J. H. Maroon, of Louisville, were called to her bedside on yesterday. They arrived this morning.

MORNING SERMON

The theme for the morning sermon will be
"Christian Stability"

EVENING SERMON

"The Redeeming Love"

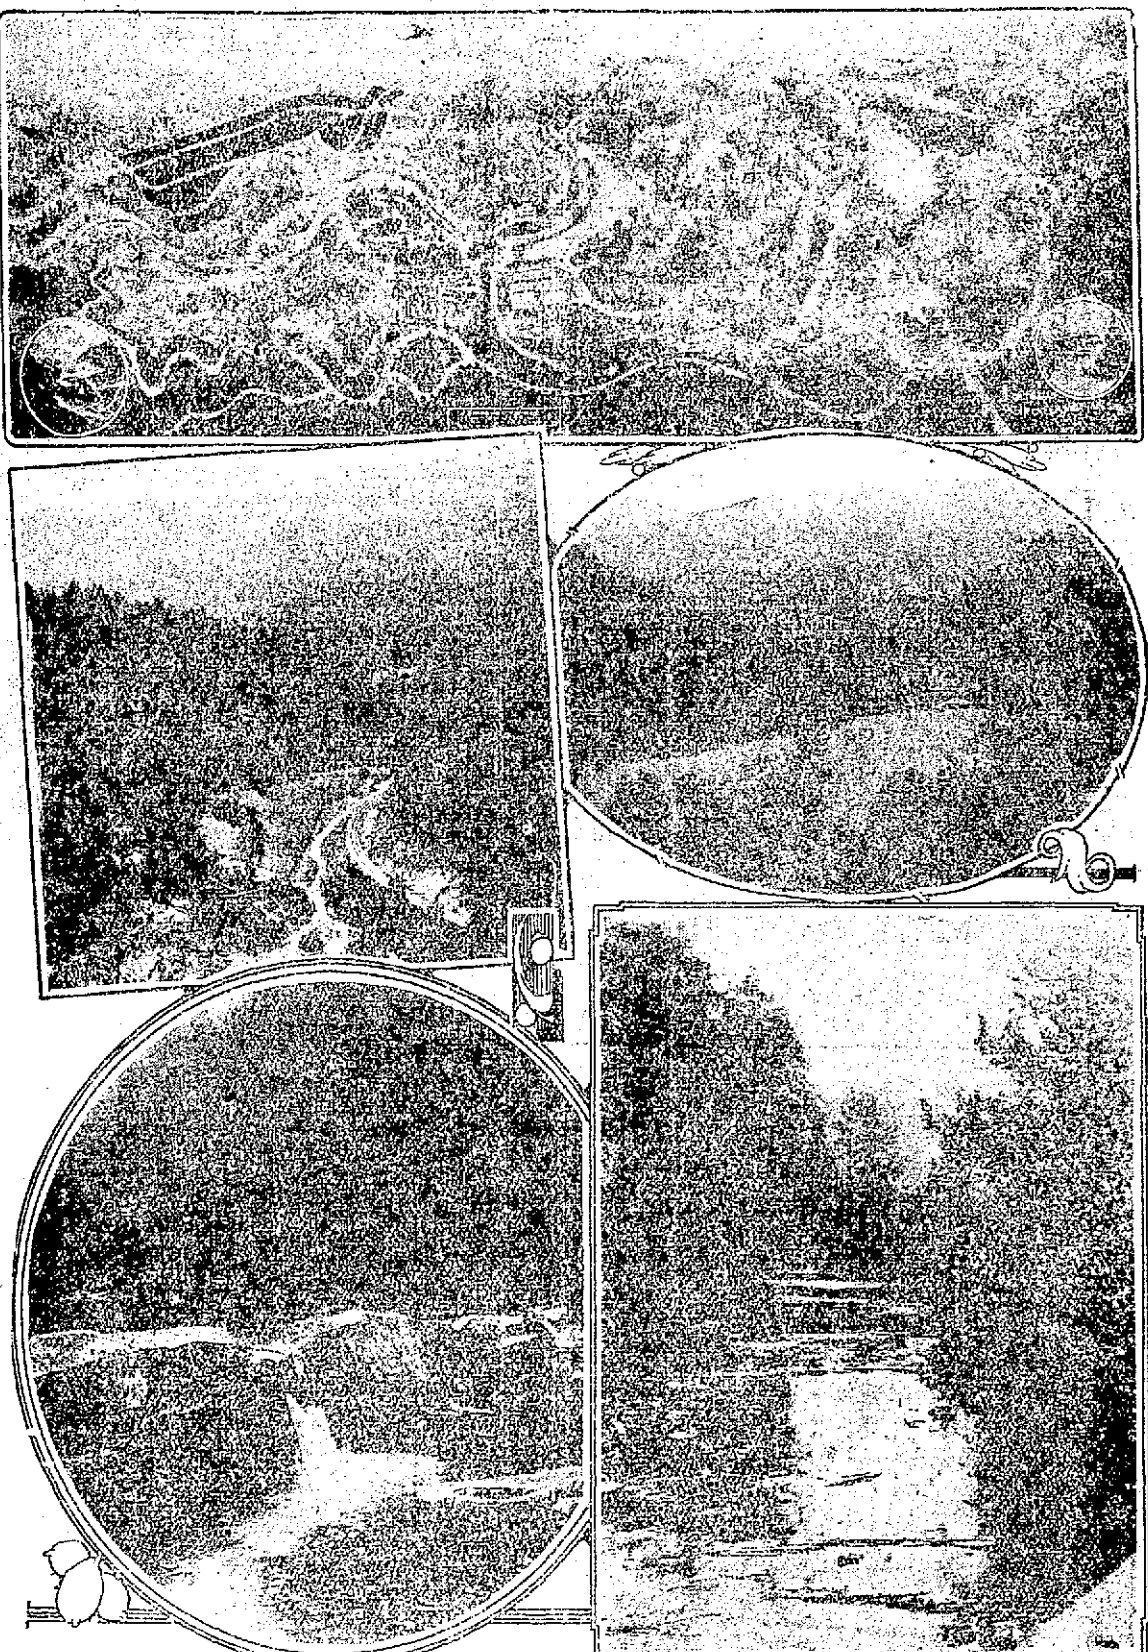

The discussion of these themes will follow the sermons of last Sabbath morning and evening.

On last Sabbath morning the same subject was considered from the positive side. On this occasion it will be considered from the negative. The former while more pleasant, may not prove so profitable to the average Christian as the latter.

"Redeeming Love" affords an opportunity to continue the study of Mephibosheth, that interesting character of the Old Testament.

Plan Clear Creek Mountain Springs

SCENES AT CLEAR CREEK MOUNTAIN SPRINGS ENCAMPMENT—TOP PICTURE IS DRAWING OF GROUNDS, SHOWING PROPOSED LAKES, HOTEL, TABERNACLE, DORMITORIES, GOLF LINKS, ATHLETIC FIELDS, DRIVEWAYS, ETC. CENTER VIEWS SHOW STRETCHES OF MOUNTAIN PANORAMA. LOWER PICTURES ARE PICTURESQUE SCENES ON CLEAR CREEK.

One of the greatest gatherings in the history of the mountains is expected at Pineville Thursday, November 22, at the rally to further the summer Baptist encampment and recreation center of Clear Creek Mountain Springs, three miles from Pineville.

The encampment has emerged from the stage of talk and planning to a point where there seems to be no obstacle to prevent its materialization. The land, 450 acres in one of the most beautiful spots in all Kentucky, has been purchased. Civil engineers and landscape architects have laid off the grounds. Work is in progress in construction of the first of three lakes. And judging from the interest manifested, the sale of bungalow sites, the plan decided on for financing the improvements, will be a complete success.

Large delegations from Middleboro, Harlan, Corbin, Barleeville, London, Williamsburg, Norton, Va., and other mountain towns are coming. Harlan has asked for 20 lots in a block. Requests for lots have come from as far north as Indiana and as far south as Florida. The Baptists are enthusiastic and will visit Pineville next Thursday with a determination to make it a great achievement. Blue Grass churches also are planning to send delegations. A number are expected from Louisville.

Those who have already subscribed for lots in the encampment project may make selections at the First State bank and the Citizens bank, Middleboro. Friday morning from 8:30 to 12 o'clock, according to announcement by Ira J. Potter.

The rally will begin at 10 o'clock in the Gaines Theatre. A barbecue and a band concert will add diversion. Addresses will be made and the bungalow sites will be sold in rapid fire order. The sale of these sites will be conducted by the Louisville Real Estate and Development company, D. C. Clarke, president of the company, himself a Baptist, is keenly interested in the movement and has given personal attention to the campaign. Every cent derived from the sale of the bungalow sites, above selling expenses, will be used in development of the encampment. The State charter expressly provides that no money from sales or leases shall be used for any other than development purposes.

The proposed development plans include three lakes, Bellefontaine, Emerald and Crescent. Crescent lake is now under construction. A hotel, tabernacle, dormitories, class pavilions, golf links, athletic field, bathing beach, driveways, parks, tennis courts and other improvements are included in the plans.

Building sites will not actually be sold, but will be leased for 99 years with privilege of renewal. This is done so that suitable regulations may be established and enforced by the Board of Control.
